

The Third Annual Workshop on Globalizing Race Studies:

Global Perspectives on Race, Knowledge and Institutions in the 21st Century

02.18.16 12pm-6pm

02.19.16 9am-2:30pm

John Evans Alumni Center
1800 Sheridan Road

02.19.16 3pm-7pm

Harris Hall 180

This workshop will explore, among others, the following key questions: To what extent can recent work on the Anthropocene, the life of objects and matter, bio/neuro/genomic science, the digital condition, or the militarization of police apparatuses and privatization of violence help renew our understanding of the 21st century forms of race-making and knowledge production? As racism once again undergoes multiple shifts, how can we renew the vocabularies we use to think about race's many lives and the lives of those who are the most subjected to racism? Are universities still key sites in the production of the various kinds of knowledge required to confront the challenges of global racism today?

FEATURED SPEAKERS:

Michael C. Dawson

Department of Political Science,
The University of Chicago

David Theo Goldberg

Director, Systemwide University of California
Humanities Research Institute and Professor,
Comparative Literature and Anthropology,
University of California, Irvine.

Juliet Hooker

Department of Government,
University of Texas at Austin

Achille Mbembe

WITS Institute for Social and Economic Research, Johannesburg, South Africa

Erin Pineda

Provost's Postdoctoral Scholar in the Center for the Study of Race, Politics, and Culture,
The University of Chicago

Melvin Rogers

Department of Political Science,
University of California, Los Angeles

Shatema Threadcraft

Department of Political Science,
Rutgers University

In addition to the public lectures, there will be two NU graduate student panels.

Co-Conveners:

Dilip Gaonkar (Rhetoric and Public Culture, NU)
Alvin B. Tillery, Jr. (Political Science, NU)

Co-sponsors:

WITS Institute for Social and Economic Research (WISER),
University of California Humanities Research Institute,
WCAS Department of Political Science
NU Department of African-American Studies

For further information, please contact Lacharles Travell Ward:
LacharlesWard2017@u.northwestern.edu